Management Discussion of Fund Performance

The management discussion of fund performance for IA Clarington Inhance Growth SRI Portfolio (the "Fund") represents management's view of the significant factors and developments affecting the Fund's performance and outlook for the 6-month period ended September 30, 2023. IA Clarington Investments Inc. is the manager (the "Manager") of the Fund.

The Fund's Portfolio Manager is iA Global Asset Management Inc. ("iAGAM" or the "Portfolio Manager") and its Sub-Advisor is Vancity Investment Management Limited ("VCIM" or the "Portfolio Sub-Advisor" or the "fund manager").

Series L of the Fund is closed to new purchases.

Results of Operations

The Fund's Net Assets decreased by 5.3% or $27.7 million during the period, from $525.4 million on March 31, 2023 to $497.7 million on September 30, 2023. This change in Net Assets resulted from a decrease of $1.8 million due to net redemptions, and a decrease of $25.9 million due to investment operations, including market volatility, income and expense.

The average Net Asset Value of the Fund increased by 6% or $29.7 million in comparison to the prior period, from $493.2 million to $522.9 million. Average Net Asset Value influence revenue earned and expenses incurred by the Fund during the period.

Series A units of the Fund returned -5.2% for the six-month period ending September 30, 2023. The performance of the other series of the Fund is substantially similar, save for differences in fees and expense structure. Refer to the "Past Performance" section for performance information of each series.

The Fund's broad-based benchmark, the S&P/TSX Composite Index, returned -1.1% for the same six-month period. The comparison to this broad-based index has been provided to help you understand the Fund's performance relative to the general performance of the Canadian equity market. The Fund's benchmark, which is composed of the 35% FTSE Canada Universe Bond Index, 35% S&P/TSX Composite Index, 30% MSCI World Index[^] (CAD), returned -1.1% for the same period. This comparison to Fund performance is more useful, because it more closely reflects the asset classes in which the Fund invests. The Fund's return calculation for all series includes fees and expenses, which are not applicable in generating a return for the benchmark.

Over the period, the global economy outperformed expectations. Both the consensus of forecasters and global markets gradually turned more optimistic through the year, dominated by the narrative that recession (a significant decline in economic activity, typically defined as two consecutive quarters of declining GDP) can be avoided.

Large-cap companies outperformed small-cap companies as mega-cap information technology stocks benefited from investor enthusiasm around artificial intelligence.

The U.S. economy has been stronger than expected and, despite some concern, there is recognition that certain data points have shown encouraging signs.

Canada's immigration policy has made its economy one of the most resilient among developed countries, with its current population growth at 3.1% year-over-year. This is, however, adding to some problems such as pushing home prices higher, making it increasingly difficult for the Bank of Canada to fight inflation.

China's economic growth has disappointed since its reopening in January, and it has become evident that Chinese authorities appear more interested in implementing structural reforms than reaching aggressive short-term economic growth targets.

The European Central Bank has been dealing with persistent inflation that has fueled wage growth, while its main economic engine, Germany, may already be in a recession.

The underlying IA Clarington Inhance Canadian Equity SRI Class, IA Clarington Inhance Global Small Cap SRI Fund, IA Clarington Inhance Bond SRI Fund and IA Clarington Inhance Monthly Income SRI Fund posted negative returns over the period. On an absolute basis, IA Clarington Inhance Global Equity SRI Fund/Class and the IA Clarington Inhance Bond SRI Fund proved most insulated, while the IA Clarington Inhance Canadian Equity SRI Class and IA Clarington Inhance Monthly Income SRI Fund saw the biggest swings given the index-heavy energy rally and weak security selection. The IA Clarington Inhance Bond SRI Fund outperformed its respective benchmark, while the other underlying funds underperformed.

The IA Clarington Inhance Canadian Equity SRI class's ("Canadian Equity Fund") overweight positions in the health care and information technology sectors contributed to performance, as did its underweight position in the materials sector, particularly in gold, silver and copper stocks. This underlying fund's security selection in the financials sector also contributed to performance as it beneficially repositioned its bank holdings.

The IA Clarington Inhance Global Small Cap SRI Fund's ("Global Small Cap Fund") underweight positions in the utilities and materials sectors contributed to performance, as did its security selection within the information technology and consumer discretionary sectors.

The IA Clarington Inhance Monthly Income SRI Fund's ("Monthly Income Fund") underweight allocation to the materials sector contributed to performance, as did its overweight allocation to the health care sector. The underlying fund's security selection in the information technology and materials sectors also contributed. Its fixed-income component remained skewed towards shorter-dated maturities, which outperformed other positions along the yield curve (graphically illustrates the yields and maturities of bonds of similar credit quality), and its overweight position in short-dated corporate bonds contributed to performance as a tightening of credit spreads (the difference in yield between debt instruments with similar terms, but different credit ratings) partially offset rising sovereign (government) bond yields (the interest earned on a fixed-income security).

The IA Clarington Inhance Global Equity SRI Class/Fund's ("Global Equity Fund") sector allocation was strong, particularly its underweight allocation to the consumer staples sector and its overweight allocation to the information technology sector. Security selection within the consumer staples and materials sectors also contributed.

The IA Clarington Inhance Bond SRI Fund's ("Bond Fund") allocation to preferred shares (a share which entitles the holder to a fixed dividend, whose payment takes priority over that of common-stock dividends) detracted from performance the largest. The Fund's position in a long-maturity U.S. Treasury bond and its above-index sensitivity to interest rates in the provincial and federal sectors detracted from performance, given that long-maturity bonds underperformed.

The Canadian Equity Fund's security selection in the consumer discretionary, health care and information technology sectors detracted from performance, as did its lack of exposure to the energy sector. This underlying fund's exposure to consumer discretionary companies detracted amid negative market sentiment (negative outlook of market participants as a whole) surrounding consumer spending.

The Global Equity Fund's security selection in the information technology, financials and consumer discretionary sectors detracted from performance, as did its lack of exposure to the energy sector.

The Global Small Cap Fund's lack of exposure to the energy sector detracted from performance. An underweight exposure to the financials sector also detracted from performance, as did security selection within the real estate, financials, materials and industrials sectors. This underlying fund's self-storage real estate holdings underperformed amid normalizing business trends following the post-COVID-19 boom.

The Monthly Income fund's overweight allocation to equities and underweight allocation to fixed income detracted from performance. Security selection, particularly in the utilities, consumer discretionary and health care sectors, also detracted from performance. An underweight allocation to the energy sector detracted from performance, as did an overweight allocation to the real estate sector. This underlying fund's fixed-income component generated a negative absolute return, which detracted from performance.

Recent Developments

Interest rates continued to reach new highs over the past several months, leading to strongly negative returns for longer-duration (more interest rate sensitive) fixed-income assets.

The narrative that recession can be avoided has already been priced into the markets, but the global economy faces numerous challenges as the effects of interest rate increases continue to work their way through the economy. Oil prices remain elevated and will likely pressure businesses where oil is a key input.

The fund manager still favours tactically defensive positioning on global equities, mainly outside of Canada. U.S. equities have higher valuations (a measurement of how much an investment is worth) than those from other regions, which the fund manager believes make them more vulnerable to downside risk.

The fund manager's process is grounded in finding high-quality companies with long runways for growth. The fund manager has increased positions in companies that have become more attractive for reasons that appear to be short-term in nature. The results of these decisions could take several quarters to materialize, but the fund manager continues to position the Fund to earn the highest rate of return possible over the next five years or more. The fund manager still prefers businesses that benefit from volatility, such as those that are acquisitive and can buy assets at cheaper prices in the market owing to higher interest rates.

Effective April 1, 2023, the Portfolio Manager changed from Industrial Alliance Investment Management Inc. to iA Global Asset Management Inc.

Related Party Transactions

The Portfolio Manager is affiliated with the Manager as they are both under common control of Industrial Alliance Insurance and Financial Services Inc. ("Industrial Alliance").

The Administration Fee is equal to a specified percentage of the net asset value of a series, calculated and paid in the same manner as the management fees for the Fund. In addition to the Administration Fee, each series of the Fund is responsible for its proportionate share of certain other operating expenses ("Fund Costs"). 1 The per unit data is derived from the Fund's audited annual financial statements for prior periods, and from the interim unaudited semi-annual financial statements for the current period ended September 30, 2023. The Fund's financial statements were prepared in accordance with International Financial Reporting Standards ("IFRS"). The increase/decrease from operations is based on the weighted average number of units outstanding over the financial period. This table is not intended to be a reconciliation of beginning to ending net assets per unit.

3 Distributions were paid in cash/reinvested in additional units of the Fund, or both.

1 This information is provided as at each period shown.

2 Management expense ratios are based on total expenses (excluding distributions, commissions, withholding taxes and other portfolio transaction costs) and a proportion of underlying fund expenses (mutual funds & ETFs), where applicable, of each series for the stated period and are expressed as an annualized percentage of each series' daily average NAV during the period.

3 The annual Management Fees and Fixed Administration Fees, excluding HST, for the Fund were 2.17% for Series A, 2.05% for Series E, 1.05% for Series F, 0.00% for Series I, 2.27% for Series L and 0.00% for Series V.

4 At its sole discretion, the Manager may have waived management fees or absorbed expenses of the Fund.

5 The trading expense ratio represents total commissions incurred directly or indirectly by way of an underlying fund, as applicable, and other portfolio transaction costs expressed as an annualized percentage of the Fund's daily average NAV during the period.

6 The Fund's portfolio turnover rate indicates how actively the fund manager manages its portfolio investments. A portfolio turnover rate of 100% is equivalent to the Fund buying and selling all of the securities in its portfolio once in the course of the period. The higher a Fund's portfolio turnover rate in a period, the greater the trading costs payable by the Fund in the period, and the greater the chance of an investor receiving taxable capital gains in the period. There is not necessarily a relationship or correlation between a high turnover rate and the performance of a Fund. The value of any trades to realign the Fund's portfolio after a fund merger, if any, is excluded from the portfolio turnover rate.

Management Fees

Management fees paid by the Fund per series are based on applying the annual management fee rate per series to the daily average NAV of each series and are recorded on an accrual basis.

The following is a breakdown of major services received by the Fund in consideration of the management fees for the period, as a percentage of the management fee:

How the Fund has performed in the past does not necessarily indicate how it will perform in the future.

Year-by-Year Returns

The bar charts show the Fund's performance for each of the periods indicated. The charts show, in percentage terms, how an investment made on the first day of each period would have increased or decreased by the last day of the period presented.
